CLEAR ALIGNERS

Restorative dentists typically offer clear aligners both as a value-added service for patients to straighten teeth and as a great approach to improve practice profitability. Selecting the right vendor is an important decision to maintain patient quality of service and the practice's confidence in the predictability of treatment.

Historically, dentists have had to figure out confusing pricing of clear aligners based on individual patient treatment plans with varying numbers of aligners.

Mod Mouth is uniquely focused on general dentistry because it is a clear aligner company founded by general dentists and built for general dentists. The founders have more than 40 years of experience in aesthetics and clear aligner treatments. This translates into being more effective, decreasing patient chair time and increasing practice profitability.

All dentists should have the choice to offer a more affordable option for their patients. Why pay for what you don't need? General dentists benefit from a simple treatment process and can rely on professional concierge services for clinical guidance.
