TG'S TAKE: "The Environmental Protection Agency passed regulations that require the widespread use of amalgam separators in 2017 with compliance beginning in 2020. However, Solmetex has been a provider of this technology since 1996. This simple design has been popular with dentists because it can easily be checked, and changing the container only takes a few minutes."

TG'S TAKE: "Cerec created the category of CAD/CAM dentistry more than 30 years ago. It continues to innovate and over the years has been joined by many worthy competitors—this year, only two votes separated first and second place! Digital impressions alone have streamlined lab workflows, improved implant planning and allowed us to demonstrate changes in our patients' teeth over time. The ecosystems built around these devices make them so much more than a replacement for impression material."
